Private Practice Physicians play an increasingly important role in Tompkins County, and the State of New York as a whole, in terms of their contribution to the broader economy. The Medical Society of the State of New York (MSSNY) sponsored an in-depth study to develop an understanding of the total economic impacts of Private Practice Physicians in the State of New York, the Tompkins County portion of which is presented here. Such an understanding is useful for Private Practice Physicians in the pursuit of goals important to them and the patients they serve.

The Medical Society of the State of New York (MSSNY) represents the interests of patients and physicians in an ongoing effort to assure quality health care services for all New Yorkers. It is the largest and oldest organization of licensed physicians, medical residents, and medical students in the State of New York. Members participate in both the state society and in their local county medical societies.

The MSSNY is a non-profit organization committed to representing the medical profession as a whole and advocating health related rights, responsibilities and issues. The MSSNY strives to promote and maintain high standards in medical education and in the practice of medicine in an effort to ensure that quality medical care is available to the public.

The Redyn model, a product of Specialized Analytics, was used to determine the total economic impact of Offices of Physicians in Tompkins County. Five key measures of these economic impacts within the State of New York are presented here for 2008 through 2020, in four-year increments. Those concepts and the figures in which they are displayed are:

- total employment supported - Figure 1
- total personal income created - Figure 2
- total corporate sales generated - Figure 3
- New York state tax revenue - Figure 4
- New York local tax revenue - Figure 5

All five key measures are summarized in Table 1. Economic impacts per dollar spent on Private Practice Medical care in Tompkins County during 2008 are presented in Figure 6, and include:

- economic value (total corporate sales) per dollar
- NY state tax revenue per dollar
- NY local tax revenue per dollar

Finally, relative economic impacts during 2008 of Offices of Physicians in Tompkins County on all counties in the State of New York are displayed in Map 1.
